To Whom It May Concern:

This writer has been asked to write a letter of reference for Coordinated Transportation Solutions, (CTS) which is being completed without reservation.

The reader is advised that specialized student transportation is one of the most difficult components of providing students with a free and appropriate education. The consumers vary in age from 3 to 21; they may have a wide range of developmental, cognitive and physical disabilities which require a high degree of professional skill and accommodations. Schools start and end times, calendars, vacation/professional development days vary widely. Student addresses may be different in the morning and afternoon.

Working with CTS has been a pleasure. They are effective and efficient in addressing the foreseen circumstances but also responsive and adaptable to the unforeseen circumstances of traffic, weather, illness, vehicle breakdown and parent idiosyncrasies.

It is without hesitation that I would recommend them as a third party provider for student transportation.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Swan,

Director of Pupil Services
